DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Sidney R. Bard, 19, of Brooklyn, was so terribly injured Thursday morning when the touring car he was driving, crashed into a tree at the side of the state highway leading from Brooklyn to Danielson, that his life was literally hanging by a thread during the afternoon and early evening hours, at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam, where he was taken after the accident. When the car left the highway and struck the tree the heavy machine was thrown back into the highway and wrecked, the young man being thrown out and rendered unconscious. He suffered a fracture at the base of the skull, on the left side, a fracture of the left arm between the elbow and shoulder, a fracture of the jaw, a part of his right thumb was cut off and the first finger of his right hand crushed. In addition he is possibly internally injured and has a number of minor cuts and bruises.

W. V. Ballard, a Brooklyn resident of about 60, who was riding in the front seat with Mr. Bard, received a severe gash near his left eye, but is not seriously hurt. He was taken from the wrecked car and conveyed to his home by a spectator who came along in his car soon after the accident occurred.

Mr. Ballard was quoted after the accident as stating that the car left the highway and dashed off toward the tree when Mr. Bard partly turned about and looked into the tonneau of the car for some letters.

Dr. F. P. Todd was hastily summoned to the location of the accident, which is near the home of John Fitzgerald, about three miles east of Danielson. Mr. Bard's condition was so serious at this time that it was feared he would live only a few minutes. A closed delivery car that happened along was pressed into service to convey Mr. Bard to Putnam. Upon his arrival there he appeared to become stronger and partly regained consciousness. It was stated during the afternoon that the young man's condition was such that it was deemed best not to attempt any operation during the day. It was stated that the young man has a chance of recovery, though this is slight. It is believed that there were no witnesses of the accident, though several cars came along within two minutes after it occurred. A person who noted the Bard car as it was passing stated that it was being driven at a moderately rapid road gait, and that the accident could not be attributed to fast driving. The injured young man is a son of Treasurer Sidney W. Bard of the Brooklyn Savings bank of Danielson and of Mrs. Bard, well known residents of Danielson. The accident shocked residents of both Danielson and Brooklyn.

Thursday, a special meeting of the Killingly town school committee was held in order that Ballouville petitioners of sandwiches, cake, fancy cookies, doughnuts, coffee, cheese, sweet cider and peanuts was provided by Mrs. Leffingwell, assisted by Mrs. Austin Rathbone, Mrs. W. A. Miner and Mrs. Byron Frink.

Three Ledyard teachers, Miss Lester, Mrs. Corey and Miss Fannie Gray, visited school here Wednesday.

Sunday morning worship at 11 o'clock. B. Y. P. U. at 7:30 o'clock; subject, Thy Will Be Done With My Power. Matt. 4:7-15. This will be a consecration meeting. The leader is John H. Rathbone.

Mrs. John I. Ross returned Monday night from visiting her cousin, Arthur Reynolds, in Bridgeport.

might be heard relative to their claim that the town is legally obligated to furnish transportation to pupils who desire to attend the high school and who live five or more miles distant from the school. Attorney J. F. Carpenter of Putnam represented those who make the claim. However, there is another view of the matter and at least some of the members of the town school committee say that the town is not legally obligated to furnish such transportation as is being requested. A decision on the matter will not be made for the present, it is understood.

Announcement was made here Thursday that Friday of next week, Armistice day, will be observed as a half-holiday by the business houses of Danielson, the stores closing at noon. This action has been taken through the initiative of the chamber of commerce and will be a tribute to the World War veterans. A request has been made for a general display of the national colors and that flags be placed at half-staff between noon and one p. m., in honor of the unknown soldier whose body is being sent from France to this country for burial at Washington and for all those who died while serving the country during the great war of the nation.

Steering is to have political caucuses this week to name candidates for a first selectman to succeed Lee Remington, who has resigned as first selectman. A special meeting of the town has been called for Friday of next week at which voters will have an opportunity to cast their ballots for their candidates for first selectman.

The first of the events to be arranged in this town to boost the deficiency fund of the Day Kimball hospital is a whist to be held next week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George M. Burroughs, Miss Dorothy Atwood, Wauregan, local chairman announced Thursday afternoon. Killingly is one of the towns that sends a very large percentage of patients treated at the Day Kimball hospital each year, and for that reason it is hoped that the public will respond generously toward what is to be done in Killingly to help the institution onto a more secure financial standing.

Members of the various branches of the I. O. O. F., represented in Danielson, are to attend next Sunday morning's service at the Baptist church in a holy meeting at their quarters in the town hall building and marching to the church. The sermon is to be preached by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Houck.

Members of Moriah lodge, No. 15, A. F. and A. M., were pleased Thursday with Wednesday night's meeting in the state armory, a degree team of the Overseas lodge of Providence conferring the Master Mason degree upon a class of candidates of the local lodge. Overseas lodge was organized from among the members of the American army of occupation and is made up exclusively of soldiers and sailors who saw overseas duty during the World war. During the working of the degree Wednesday evening the Overseas lodge members appeared in their army or navy uniforms. About 350 masons from Killingly and surrounding towns were in attendance.

The announcement that the Connecticut Mills basketball team is to be seen in action again this fall and winter assures followers of this lively indoor sport some real class playing. Plans are now being formulated for the season's playing and it is expected that the opening game will be played here on Thanksgiving night with the Newport Naval Reserve team. This team played here last season and one of the finest that has been seen on a court in Danielson in years.

Dog Warden Harry Lathrop of the town of Brooklyn said Thursday afternoon that he will arrest every man who owns a dog and allows the animal to go about without having a proper tag attached to its collar.

This action is to be taken following the slaughter of sheep that has taken place at the farm of Oliver A. Downs. Mr. Lathrop spent the greater part of Thursday watching out for the return of the dog that has been killing sheep of the Downs flock, but the animal did not put in an appearance.

Sheep killed by the dog evidently have been seized on a one-day schedule, for have been found scattered about the large farm, usually at points where walls converge, showing they had been chased until cornered. In some cases the indications are that the sheep have been dead for more than a week. Some of the carcasses were found practically stripped of all flesh, while others showed that the dog had seized them by the throat and sucked their blood and then abandoned them.

State Officer Howard A. Elliott, special deputy of the bureau of domestic animals, is expected here to investigate certain features of the case that have developed and it is believed that it will be possible to fix the responsibility for the killing. A band of hoodlums have East Killingly a rough-housing mob since evening out the pretense of celebrating Halloween. Mistaking vandalism for fun they indulged in a number of escapades that win them something akin to a jail sentence in any court in the country.

Miss Louise Danielson is to have the members of the Camp Fire Girls at her home for a meeting this (Friday) afternoon.

The annual roll call campaign of the American Red Cross will open here on Friday of next week, Armistice day.

Danielson's chamber of commerce has taken up advocacy of the establishment of a dental clinic for the school of Killingly. This has been done in a number of Connecticut towns, including Putnam, and has been found a great benefit.

George C. Howland, 76, formerly of Wauregan, died Thursday morning at Anthony, R. I. He leaves his wife and two sons, Walter J. Howland, superintendent of the Mount Hope spinning company, Warren, R. I., and Crawford Howland of Quinebeck, R. I. Mr. Howland was well known in Wauregan and Central Village.

Rev. A. Avery Gates, was the speaker at the Thursday evening service at the Congregational church and Miss Evelyn Jette was the leader at the young people's meeting.

Those who participated in a local musical production recently staged here under the management of Billie Russell had a festive Thursday, when they gathered at the Attawaugan house for a banquet.

PUTNAM

Arguments will be made today (Friday) in the superior court in Willimantic in the case of Dr. J. P. McKenna of Providence vs. John W. Whipple, I. A. Averill and Sergeant George Laird of this city. This case went to trial Tuesday and at adjournment that afternoon all the testimony had been put in. Dr. McKenna is bringing suit for $50,000, alleging against the defendants that he was maliciously prosecuted and falsely imprisoned in this city in March of this year after he had been looked up following a crash between his car and a machine owned by Mr. Whipple, the accident happening on the Putnam-Pomfret state highway.

Hen F. W. Hinrichs, a New York attorney, who spends much of his time throughout the year at Woodstock, has been in New York this week taking a hand in the majority campaign. Now at fever heat to be decided at the polls Tuesday night. Mr. Hinrichs has been making speeches favoring the re-election of Mayor John F. Hyman, who is being lambasted daily by practically all of the New York papers excepting the Hearst publications. It is understood that Mr. Hinrichs supports the mayor on account of his transit programme, announced as favoring five cent fare in the great city.

Putnam taxpayers will be interested in the fact that town funds will be kicked this year for $3,158.90 to meet the state tax levied against the community. This is the highest state tax that will be paid by any Windham county town with the exception of Windham, which includes the city of Willimantic, and which will pay $15,167.75. Thompson is to pay $1,045.03, Woodstock $1,519.51, Pomfret $1,939.45.

Today (Friday) the first in a series of meetings of locals of the New England Milk Producers' association is to be held in this territory. This meeting will be at Woodstock. Another meeting is scheduled for next Friday evening, November 11, at Grange hall in Abington. The county meeting of members of the N. E. Milk Producers' association is to be held here on November 19th.

And now comes the man who would round up more of the thieves that take tires from wrecked automobiles or cars that are left unattended in outlying sections. His scheme is to "plant" a car; that is, leave one beside the highway as though it had been wrecked while the thief hunters hie securely nearby, waiting for the raiders to come along and begin operations. Motorists who discussed this plan Thursday believe that it would work and that in due time tire thieves would be materially lessened.

Notices that ward caucuses are to be held in various parts of the city is a reminder that the bi-annual city election is just ahead and that city politics will be getting much attention during the coming few weeks. The city election will be held early in December. A mayor and various other city officers are to be elected.
